

AZADV Conference Speakers

AZADV's mission is to facilitate education, communication and the exchange of information among volunteers. In keeping with this mission, AZADV provides financial assistance to AZADV conference speakers.

This applies to AZADV members who are volunteers (not paid staff members), for their authored and presented papers. For each paper approved and presented at an AZADV conference, the cost of one verified paid registration will be reimbursed after the conference. The presenter must meet the deadlines and conditions set by the conference host for reimbursement to occur. In addition, the presenter must register for the conference and be an AZADV member in good standing.

The check will be made payable to the member volunteer listed on this form. This form must be completed and returned with the paper submission in order for the reimbursement to be processed. In cases of multiple presenters of one paper, it is left to the discretion of the volunteer of record to disperse as he/she sees fit.

All papers submitted may be published in any form, including but not limited to the AZADV website.
